

If you are worried family members might not understand your VUS result you may wish to say something like:

"Most of the time, VUSs end up being negative, or in other words, a change that does not increase cancer risks."

Some people may choose not to talk to their family member at all. Instead, they may put together some of the text above in a short letter or email along with the following statement.

"If you would like to find out more, please read this handout that includes more information."
